

Accessible Advocacy Plan - Template

This page is a place to write your plan for the work you will do to advocate.

Advocacy is when you speak up and ask for change.

There are many different ways that people do advocacy. Some examples are having a meeting with your government, doing a training, having an event, going on the radio or television, and writing letters.

Write each advocacy action you will do here. Together, they are your advocacy plan.

Activity 1 (Example)

Who will we advocate to?

Our local government.

What do we want to say to them?

We want them to change the laws that say people with disabilities will lose our disability benefits when we get a job.

How will we tell them?

We will have a meeting with them where our self-advocacy group will explain the problems and how the government can help.

When will we do it?

We will do it in March.

How will we follow up?

We will offer to work together with them to make a plan for how the rules should change.

How will we check if our advocacy worked?

After six months we will have another meeting and talk about what steps have been taken.
